- European distribution centre opened on time in March and has remained fully operational since launch
- Strong active customer numbers in the half, however too early to read this in conjunction with repeat customer rates
- Social and customer database continuing to build during start up phase
- Conversion rates continue to grow with an encouraging trajectory, with differing impacts seen across the key territories
- Investment in advertising spend now being more targeted by territory
- Challenge for H2 to balance product margin against variable cost base

Summary

Financial

- Continued significant growth opportunity – online and in-store in the UK and Europe
- Strong balance sheet, resilient business model, responsive to opportunity and challenge
- European market opportunity is clear despite external economic headwinds
- Focus on profitably growing share, simultaneously developing margins and securing efficiencies
- Managing operating cashflows, with headroom to invest

Strategy – Europe's first choice omni-channel fishing tackle destination

- Build on 4 strategic pillars – Product authority, Customer experience, Inspiration & advice, Responsibility
- Continue to invest to drive market share growth, where prudent to do so, leveraging market leading position in the UK and strong balance sheet
- Build on native language European website successes, positive omni-channel outlook
- Leverage recent capital investment and store portfolio
- Limited but focused M&A where strategically appropriate
- Segment the angling markets for improved growth and margin

Current Trading & Outlook

- The Company remains focussed on gaining market share both in the UK and Europe over the medium to long term and believes that the current uncertain consumer environment coupled with the Company's fundamental strengths mean there is a significant opportunity to gain market share in a weakening competitor landscape
- The Group will therefore continue to invest to drive market share growth, where prudent to do so, leveraging its market leading position in the UK and strong balance sheet to ensure it is best placed competitively when consumer confidence returns
- As flagged in our recent trading update, post-period end sales have been impacted by unusually hot temperatures which caused some fishery closures and led to sales in the peak trading month of August being 7.0% down against the corresponding month in H2 FY22
- Total sales returned to modest year on year growth in September, however, like many consumer facing businesses we have recently seen volatile, unprecedented and unpredictable trading conditions both in-store and online which change significantly week-by-week for example, for trading weeks which commenced in the month of September year on year total UK sales ranged from 21% increase to 0.5% decrease
- The general market outlook has deteriorated further in recent weeks which creates a heightened degree of uncertainty and makes short term forecasting extremely challenging
- The Board remains optimistic about the long-term prospects for the Group, underpinned by its leading omni-channel proposition and strong balance sheet which reinforces the Group's decision to continue to invest to support its long-term strategy
- Due to the challenging and highly volatile trading conditions the Company faces, and the difficulty in short term forecasting and trading, the Board believes it prudent to reduce its expectations for both revenue and pre-IFRS 16 EBITDA for FY 2023
- The Board is confident that revenue and pre-IFRS 16 EBITDA for the year ending 31 January 2023 will not be less than £73.8m and £2.2m respectively

Well positioned for growth with industry-leading profitability, driving long-term value creation
